PLANS MADE FOR CHRISTMAS TREE

Executive Committee of Chamber of Commerce Appoints a Special Committee Friday Evening.

TREE SUCCESS LAST YEAR

Board Will Meet Next Friday Night
to Elect Member to Fill
W. M. Sparks' Place.

A special committee to arrange for a municipal Christmas tree was appointed and a meeting of the board of directors called at a meeting of the executive committee of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce in the headquarters yesterday evening.

Rushville had its first municipal Christmas tree last year and it was highly successful. Several persons felt that it should be repeated this year, only on a more elaborate scale.
Last year there was no organization about the project. A few men took hold and made the tree possible, but it was done hastily and with no preparation.

Rushville was one of the few county seat towns in Indiana which had a municipal Christmas tree last year. This year they are all preparing for one. The idea is popular everywhere since it was given a trial last year in a few places.

The special committee named is as follows: Frank Reynolds, chairman, Mark Purcell, John A. Tiftworth, A.
P. Wagoner, Elmer Humes, Mrs. W.
W. Allen, Mrs. T. W. Betker, Miss
Anna Cowan, Floyd Hogsett, Mrs.
Minnie Abercrombie, Mrs. A. L.
Stewart, T. W. Betker, James W.
Gartin and Mrs. J. D. Case.

A meeting of the board of directors was called for Friday evening, December 11, at eight o'clock, at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters.
The chief purpose of the meeting is to elect a new director to fill out the unexpired term of Will M. Sparks, and to elect a new president.

Mr. Sparks had to resign as a member of the board and as president of the Chamber of Commerce because he was elected judge of the Rush circuit court last month and will take office the first day of January, 1915. Mr. Sparks was elected a member of the board for a term of two years last February.

There are other matters of importance to come before the board when it meets. No names have been suggested yet for Mr. Sparks' place on the board.

The rapidity with which Rushville took up with the municipal Christmas tree idea last year insures its success this year. Last year the tree was beautifully decorated and was lighted with varied colored electric lights. It was put up on the court house lawn. It will be recalled that a blizzard blew in Christmas morning and the wind was so strong that it blew the tree over. It was up for several nights before Christmas, however, and everyone enjoyed it immensely.

A short program around the tree was attempted last year and a good-sized crowd turned out for the event.
But there was not time enough to make any elaborate arrangements.
It is the hope of many this year that the whole affair can be more extensive and be even more popular than last year.

"The Deathless Interest Excited by Christ" will be the morning subject and "Putting Things Through" the evening subject of a sermon to be preached at the First Presbyterian church Sunday by Dr. Mc-Kibben of Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati.

HAPPY GLORE SENT TO JAIL

Wife Refused to Dismiss Assault and Battery Charge.

Mrs. Ida Glore refused to dismiss the charge of assault and battery against her husband, Howard (Happy) Glore in Squire Kratzer's court this morning and as a result Happy went to jail for eleven days, receiving a fine of one dollar and costs, amounting to a total of $11.75. Happy Glore begged his wife to dismiss the charge but she refused stating that he had not worked for the last five weeks and was a continual bother to her. Glore promised his wife he would go to work if she would let him go but she said he had made the same promise a dozen other times and allowed Squire Kratzer to find him guilty.

GRAND JURY IS CALLED THURSDAY

Very Likely it Will Begin Investigation of Clevenger Murder Case Immediately.

VERDICT IS NOT READY YET

Coroner Barnett stated today that he would likely file his verdict in the Clevenger case Monday. The evidence has not all been transcribed by the stenographer who took the testimony in shorthand. With the negro charged with murder and the preliminary set for Monday morning, there is little to do but let the law take its course.

The grand jury was called this morning and ordered to report Thursday morning. At this time the grand jury will be instructed by the court and will likely take up the Clevenger case immediately. It is not known what Lee, the accused man intends doing. If he fights the case it will be necessary for the court to appoint an attorney to defend him as he is without funds. The negro will be bound over to the grand jury Monday morning.

CATT CHANGES PLEA; FINED $1 AND COSTS

Carthage Man, Arrested in Newcastle, Reconsiders and Pleads Guilty.

PERSONS HURT IMPROVING

F. L. Catt, the Carthage engineer, who was arrested in Newcastle for speeding, following a collision between his machine and that of Lee Stephens, in which Stevens and his daughter Lulu were injured, reconsidered his case and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Watkins late yesterday.

It is understood that Catt settled with Stephens for $150 and Stephens because of this did not desire to push the charge. The injured parties are said to be greatly improved. The fine was a surprise to many because it was alleged that Catt was driving between thirty-five and forty miles an hour when the accident occurred.

THOUGHT THEY HAD A MYSTERY

Mr. and Mrs. James Gartin Found Horse and Buggy Down Embankment at 11 O'clock Last Night.

ALONG ROAD AT BISHOP FARM

Block and Tackle Necessary to Get Outfit Onto Road—Had Broken
Loose at Hitch Rack.

People in the neighborhood of the Wood Bishop farm, northeast of the city, believed for a time last night that they had a real mystery, resulting with the finding of a horse and buggy down an embankment close by the bridge on the Bishop farm.
The rig proved to be the property of Henry Wills, colored, living near New Salem, and was driven to this city by Jim Daniels. It was only after considerable difficulty that the owner of the rig was located.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gartin were on their way home from this city and as they approached the bridge their horse frightened. On going back to see what it was Mr. Gartin found the horse and buggy down the embankment. The horse was lying on its back with all four feet in the air and was unable to right itself. Mr. Gartin called Wood Bishop, George Hollensbe and other neighbors and they succeeded in getting the horse and rig out of the ditch.

A block and tackle had to be used before the horse got to its feet. The animal was not injured but the buggy was considerably smashed. After getting the horse and buggy out of the ditch the men were up against it as to who owned the outfit. The rig was found about eleven o'clock last night and as there was no one in the buggy it was only after a search of an hour that the owner was found.

A suit case in the back of the buggy was opened and a shirt was found which gave a clue as to who owned the rig. The shirt contained the name of Allen Daniels, a local barber, and thinking that Pete Johnson might know something of the affair he was called. Mr. Johnson went to the scene and identified the rig as being the property of Henry Wills.
Part of a quart of whiskey was also found in the buggy.

It developed that Jim Daniels had driven the rig to this city and it is supposed that the horse broke away from the hitch rack and wandered away. Daniels went after the buggy this morning.

WILL OPEN SALE IN POSTOFFICE

Psi Iota Xi Sorority Will Establish Office There to Sell Red Cross
Christmas Seals.

OTHER PLANS OF CAMPAIGN

The Rushville chapter of the Psi Iota Xi sorority, which is in charge of the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals here in the city will place them on sale in the postoffice early next week, probably Monday. The sorority girls will establish an office there and there will always be someone at the desk to appeal to every person who mails a letter to buy a Red Cross seal for it. The girls are anxious to set a new record for sales here in the city this year.

Beginning next Saturday, the girls will have a Red Cross seals stand in the ninety-nine cent store every Saturday up to Christmas. The girls have already canvassed most of the business district and they expect to canvass the residence district as well. The latter plan has never been followed here. Most all of the stores bought a liberal supply and will sell them to any persons desiring the stamps.

RALSTON ASSERTS HE DID NOT DO IT

Declares in Chicago Today he Never Requested Such a Grand Jury Investigation.

WAS JUST ON BILL JUGGLING

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Governor Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana did not request the grand jury investigation in Indianapolis which resulted in the indictment of thirteen state officials, he declared here today. The governor is in Chicago to attend a dinner of the Indiana society. He called Indianapolis over the long distance today to confirm reports that thirteen officials were indicted.

"I requested a grand jury investigation of two Lake county bills which I believe were put in statute books without having actually passed the legislature," he said today. "I did not ask for a probe of the legislative employment situation.

"There is nothing that I care to say about the indictments at this time. I do not know that I shall have any occasion to discuss them."

—Mrs. Janetta Carr, who has been visiting in Chicago for the past two months, came last night for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—Seven of the thirteen state officials indicted grand jury appeared in criminal court today and were released on their own recognizance. The evi-

The appearance of Evan B. Stoi-

Imitation

Imitation is a most expensive form of flattery.

This is especially true when it takes the form of "substitutes"

Reputable makers suffer but the buying public suffers more.

The imitation is never as good

SAYS HE DID NOT TRY TO AVOID MULL

U. G. Beaver Also Asserts he Never Sold Any Hog Cholera Serum in His Life.

SAYS COULD HAVE BEEN FOUND

U. G. Beaver, who has been in the north part of the state buying live stock since the foot and mouth disease has been epidemic, returned home yesterday and denied that he had attempted to evade Dr. A. A. Mull, deputy state veterinarian for Rush county during the epidemic. It was reported to Dr. Mull that Mr. Beaver had sold some of the hog cholera serum which the state authorities had learned was infected. The local deputy was instructed to quarantine all farms in Rush county where the alleged infected serum had been used for a number of days to see if the disease cropped out.

Mr. Beaver declares that he had never sold any hog cholera serum in his life and that Dr. Mull was misinformed. He said, however, that he ordered some serum for P. S. Daubenspeck, east of Rushville, and that the person who took the order misunderstood who it was for and sent it in his name. Mr. Beaver declares he sent the order because the farmer's telephone was out of commission. Mr. Beaver declares that no effort was made to find him while he was away and that he could have been located any time. He says that if his house had been called and the business made known, his whereabouts could have been ascertained. Mr. Beaver says the information could have been obtained any time from his son or John D. Hiner.

Sometimes a Clear Conscience Needs No Accuser

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

I was shopping one day when a woman in the place where I was buying dry goods was arrested for shoplifting. She seemed to be a lady and very much cut up. She endeavored to convince the proprietor that she was respectable and had no occasion to steal but he was obdurate, and the poor woman was hustled off to a police station. A few days later I saw by a newspaper that the lady was the wife of a wealthy and prominent man. She lived in another city, and, there being no one at hand to vouch for her, she spent the night in a cell. Her husband came for her, got her out and commenced suit against the dry goods firm for $100,000 damages.

This matter made so great an impression on me that I dreaded thereafter getting into such a position myself. I never went to a counter to look over goods but that I felt that the eyes of a detective were upon me.

One day while buying some goods I laid my bag on the counter to examine them. Several other persons came to the counter while I was there. When I finished making my purchases—they were to be sent home—I took up my bag and went to another counter, where I bought a spool of thread and, opening my bag to put in the purchase, noticed some bundles that I could not account for. Either they had been put in my bag or I had changed bags with some one else.

Remembering the case I have mentioned, I became terror stricken lest I should be arrested as a thief.

And here is where an innocent person is liable to incriminate himself. Unless very cool and collected there are nineteen chances in twenty that he will do the wrong thing, and there are nineteen chances in twenty that one, especially a woman, will not be cool and collected. I certainly was not, and I did not do what I should have done—that is, take the bag to the office and report the facts. My one desire was to get out of that store before the lynx eyed detective on duty should pounce upon me. I went toward the door in a great hurry, doubtless showing by my expression that I was a thief running away with goods.

I attracted the attention of a woman, who followed me out. I caught sight of her staring at me and, looking back on gaining the street, saw her coming behind me. I did not doubt that she was a detective, employed by the firm to watch shoplifters, and that I would be arrested as soon as she could secure the services of a policeman. I hurried on, she following as fast as she could. But she did not gain on me, for she was older than I and somewhat corpulent.

Seeing a cab standing beside the curb, I jumped in and told the cabman to drive me to my house. The woman, coming up as we were driving away, endeavored to attract the cabman's attention, but he did not see her. I saw her plainly enough, but I looked away, pretending not to see her. There was no other cab near, and I succeeded in getting away from the woman. When I reached home I ran in as quickly as I could, locked the door behind me, and after calling to the maid to admit no one I went upstairs to my room.

I had not been there long before there was a sharp ring at the doorbell. I remained in my room, shivering, and the summons was not answered. There was another and another ring, but after that whoever was there went away. I heard some one going down the steps and, looking out of the window, saw a policeman riding away on a motorcycle.

I determined to get away from the house before he could come back, but first concluded to examine the bag. It was not mine and contained a number of articles of no great value that were evidently purchases of a woman. Then I recalled that I had been at my jeweler's and brought away a valuable brooch that I had left there for repair. I had exchanged my brooch for a yard of cambric, six handkerchiefs, half a yard of dress lining and a number of other articles of no more value.

While I was preparing to continue my flight I heard a latchkey fumbling in the keyhole of the front door. I knew it was my husband and ran downstairs, opened the door and when he entered fell into his arms. In reply to his agonized appeals to be told what was the matter I finally gasped that I was about to be arrested as a shoplifter. This naturally astonished him, and he worked hard with me till he got the story.

"Nonsense!" he exclaimed. "Some woman has unintentionally exchanged bags. Doubtless while shopping at the same counter with you you both laid down your bags and she picked up the wrong bag. When you turned for yours you took what was left."

There was another ring at the doorbell, and my husband insisted on going to the door. I ran upstairs and hid in the closet. Presently I heard him calling, but I remained where I was till he came upstairs with my lost bag.

The woman who had followed me, finding that she had exchanged bags with some one and seeing me leave the store, recognized me as one she had seen "shopping" beside her and had tried to catch me. Failing, she had sent a motorcycle policeman after me. He had returned, reported that he had failed to gain admittance, and the woman had come to restore my bag with a $1,000 brooch in it for her own containing articles worth very little.

Rev. J. B. Meacham Happy In New Home

A letter has been received here from the Rev. John B. Meacham, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church who resigned to accept a charge at Moultrie, Ga., in which he denies the report circulated here that he has been in poor health. He says that he and his family are enjoying their new home immensely. His letter follows:

Someone has started a report in Rushville that my health had failed since I have been down here in Moultrie, Ga., and we have received a number of letters from our friends inquiring about it. In order that those to whom my personal letters may not reach, may know the truth I wish you would state in your paper that I have not had an ache nor a pain for two years. I am well and happy in my new work, with a live church and a loyal people to assist in this great field. I have not seen a graveyard nor a sick person since my arrival here two months ago. I do not know whether they have a cemetery here or not. The people here have been overwhelming in their expression of kindnesses to me and my family. We have a beautiful home furnished by the church with all modern conveniences.

The day before Mrs. Meacham and the boys came the church people filled our pantry with groceries and all kind of edibles, till one would think we were going into the grocery business. Last night a reception was held for us at the home of Mr. W. J. Vereen, one of our deacons. It was a most delightful affair and served its purpose well in making us feel at home. The war has affected conditions here considerably in the money world but you would never know it from the way the people stand by the church. Our church last year contributed more per capita to Foreign Missions than any other Presbyterian church in the state of Georgia. The secret of our good financial condition in the church here is in the fact that a number of our people pay a tenth of their income to the church.

This is one of the liveliest towns in South Georgia. A fine new High school building was dedicated this week, pedestal lights are being installed, in the town, such as Rushville has, paved streets are increasing, and a large packing house is nearing completion which will be formerly opened next month. The farmers are turning their attention more to the raising of cattle and hogs than ever before. You may tell Huntington of the Baptist church not to be discouraged with his little Baptist flock, for down here the woods are full of musquitoes, rats and Baptists. I never saw the like of them before. With kindest regards and best wishes to all my Rushville friends.

How the Good Ship Went Down

Willetts A. Bastian, Progressive candidate for prosecutor in Marion county at the last election and one of the wheel-horses of the party, invaded the sacred precincts of Masonry with a highly enlightening dissertation on politics at the initiatory exercises of the Scottish Rite in Indianapolis the other night. He struck dumb the 1,500 Masons present with a vivid and apparently truthful recital of how the good ship Bull Moose went down. Here's what he said:

"Thirty days ago tonight our ship was sailing smooth seas. Not a cloud appeared above the horizon; the air was balmy; the stars shining; flags were flying; the band playing; the passengers dancing and the whole crew hilarious. We had just touched at Oyster Bay, taken on a cargo of lubricating oil and were making fast for the haven of our heart's desire.

"Along about the end of the second watch—or maybe it was the beginning of the third—I remember now it was the beginning of the third watch, for the second mate had just called to the lookout, 'Six bells and all's well', when there was a long continued, tearing sound along the bottom of the craft, followed by a terrific explosion that hurled a mass of broken wreckage out on the surface of the deep. Not a soul on that ill-fated schooner was saved, not even my own, as you can readily see, for while I have been permitted to tell the tale I am not putting any soul in it.

"The saddest thing about the disaster was that neither the ship nor cargo was insured, and there was not a cent of salvage. The board of inquiry is right now sitting in Chicago trying to locate the responsibility for the wreck. Several theories have been advanced. One is that our craft was raked by a submarine iceberg, and the general chilliness of the atmosphere lends credence to that theory. Another suggestion is that we had backed into a German mine on the south side. Everybody on the boat had supposed that we were running straight ahead for port, but it is evident now that in some way the engines had reversed and we had been running backward with a full head of steam on without noticing it. One thing I am proud of—our boat went down honorably. We began to settle forward and the fatal plunge was made bow foremost. At any rate, the last thing visible was the stern.

"I know that any discussion of politics is tabooed in this presence and in this temple, but it is easy for me to prove an alibi as to that, for it must be plain to every one now that there wasn't any real politics in the whole catastrophe."

+++++ What Our Neighbors Are Talking About +++++

BUILT ON BLOOD.

(Columbus Republican.)

Prosperity is beginning to smile on the United States. After a protracted test the Bryan brand of diplomacy and the Wilson-Underwood tariff enactment are bearing fruit. In a very short time now, our factories will hum—some of them perhaps, operating day and night, to fill the orders that are flowing in from abroad. A dispatch from South Bend tells the good news in a measure, to the effect that British orders for more than $15,000,000 of vehicles—automobiles, wagons, sleds and harness and other equipment were brought back from England by one Frederick Fish of the Studebaker corporation of that city. Another order for similar equipment amounting to $1,000,000, to be shipped by a Jackson, Mich., firm, is also mentioned in the South Bend dispatch. All this would sound pretty good if it were not for the concluding sen-

Health--How to Preserve It Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty
State Health Commissioner

(Dr. Hurty will answer questions on prevention of disease, hygiene and sanitation. Questions requiring a personal answer cannot be considered. To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 36½ West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

Steady reader writes—"Is there any way to remove whiskers from a man's face other than by shaving? Is it injurious?"

Reply—Whiskers may be removed by a paste made of calcium sulphide. It amounts to the same as shaving in the end, for they grow again. This depilatory calcium sulphide is not injurious. Shaving is the best way to remove whiskers.

Anxious writes—"What will prevent hair turning gray? What will remove dark rings from the eyes? I am subject to colds in winter though I wear light wool underwear. I also suffer from swollen body generally in very warm weather. I get relief by lying down half an hour. I am a woman 35 years old."

Reply—The best way to prevent hair turning gray is to keep it healthy by following the health rules of life and not worrying. You can also remove dark rings by keeping healthy. They are evidence of ill health very frequently. You would not be subject to colds in winter if you live much out of doors and get plenty of fresh air, eat plain foods and look carefully after the functions of life. Resting half an hour, especially after dinner is a good thing and I advise you to keep it up. Above all things keep well by living according to the laws of your well being.

J. D. S., Vincennes, writes—"I see your reply on auto-intoxication, and note that you say eggs should not be eaten. Does this imply raw eggs; and is linseed oil good for the stomach and bowels? What is a good medicine for one with a poor stomach. Your description of auto-intoxication fits my feelings so well that I felt that must be my complaint."

Reply—To cure, or rather get rid of auto-intoxication, the patient should eat very little nitrogenous food. Nitrogenous foods are chiefly animal foods, cheese, eggs, and meat. Although milk is an animal food it is always wholesome and excellent. The vegetables which carry a good deal of nitrogen are the legumes, such as peas and beans. Auto-intoxication generally proceeds out of the excesstence of the story, as follows: "Another war time order made known was a British order for 5,000,000 one-pound tins of corned beef." There's the nub to the prosperity dope. At the expense of the lives of hundreds of thousands of soldiers whose blood is dying the soil of Europe from France to the Black Sea and from the Adriatic to Russia, our wheels are beginning to turn, and the administration at Washington sits back in smug complacency to receive the plaudits of the fellows drawing government salaries, for doing what—causing the European war. It is admitted by all that what little prosperity exists in this country is owing to orders from abroad for war equipment and for food for the armies, so that proves the industrial situation in the United States was infinitely worse then—before the great war began, and that consequently to that awful condition abroad, rather than to any efforts of the Wilson administration, is due the sive eating of meat. A person with auto-intoxication should not eat the white of eggs. Have eggs shirred and eat the yolks only. Raw linseed oil is a passably good laxative and lubricant. Oil of vasceline or any purified hydro-carbon oil is excellent also.

I cannot give a satisfactory answer to your question what is a good medicine for one with a poor stomach. This is because the medicines are many and poor stomachs are of many kinds. After all the best medicine is a plain diet paying close attention to mastication. Chew your food until it is a pulp and swallows itself as it were. Thorough mastication of food will cause it to slip down the throat so easily that they say "it swallows itself". Abuse of the table has caused more sickness and caused more deaths than abuse of alcohol, and failure to chew food will always bring "stomach trouble."

H. A. writes—"Is it bad for the health to breathe gasoline fumes?"

Reply—It is not good for the health to breathe gasoline fumes too often or too much. Occasional breathing of the fumes will do no harm.

M. A. writes—"How can one find out positively whether one has malaria?"

Reply—An examination of the blood by an expert bacteriologist will tell positively whether or not one has malaria.

Mrs. M. A. writes—"Is it well to keep potted plants or cut flowers in the sick room? Is the effect bad in the bedroom of a healthy person?"

Reply—Potted plants and cut flowers do no harm in the bedroom, and do no harm in the sick room. It is not desirable to fill, or half fill, a room with them.

Mrs. X. writes—"Is there anything that can be secretly given in coffee or tea to cure a man of the tobacco habit?"

Reply—No.

Minerva writes—"Will you kindly state what would be considered normal measurements for a perfectly formed woman of 24 years?"

Reply—I cannot answer your question. I do not know.

partial revival of industry, and at the same time it effectually places where it belongs, responsibility for our silent mills and factories—as they were for months before the beginning of the war.

Thought Likely $5,000 Damage Suit

Against Railroads Would Reach Jury This Afternoon.

FINAL STATEMENTS MADE

The Widman damage suit, sent here on a change of venue from Fayette county, was expected to go to the jury about four o'clock this afternoon. The closing arguments were started shortly before noon. Two hours were given to each side. The first statement for the plaintiff was made by Eugene Miller and he was followed by John Tittsworth for the defense. L. L. Broadus followed Mr. Tittsworth and Reuben Conner made the last statement for the plaintiff.

Widman demands $5,000 for injuries received in a grade crossing accident. The suit is against the Big Four and L. E. & W. railways, but in his instructions Judge Megee will ask the jury to find for the defendant, the Big Four railway, as the Lake Erie has admitted that they were operating the train. The defense maintained that the injuries to Mr. Widman were due to contributory negligence on his part and that after stepping from danger he immediately placed himself in danger by going to the rear of the automobile. The evidence showed that the auto had cleared the tracks with the exception of the rear wheels and had he remained seated would have escaped injury as the back end of the machine was simply brushed off the track.

If is necessary for the fraud to guarantee you a lot of richly painted stuff in order to get your business. Do you want a guarantee with a Stetson Hat, A Singer Sewing Machine or a Packard Automobile? No, you don't. Why? Because you know these articles are right and always have been, and if you were to buy one of these articles that was wrong it would be made right without any argument. Nice satisfactory way to do business ain't it. Do you know of any one with one of our buggies that is not satisfied, that thinks he got a dirty deal, that thinks he paid for something he didn't get, or thinks we are rough to do business with? If you know a man of this kind we want to see him because every buggy we sell has to be satisfactory. That is why your neighbors buy their buggies from us. They know—they have had the experience and realize the fact that buying their buggies of us means satisfaction. We have a nice line of STORM BUGGIES for you to make a selection from and want you to see them before you buy, then if you buy one of our buggies you will be a satisfied customer the rest of your life. Watch our satisfied customers make our Buggy business grow.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

WILL HURT GAME OTHER PLACES

Death of Prize Fighting in California Means There Will be More Ten Round Fights

THESE ARE UNSATISFACTORY

New Orleans Will be Only Place Where Both of Twenty Rounds May be Staged in Future

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Dec. 5.—Killing the fight game in California may be fine for civilization, but it will be pretty tough on the fight game experts and and real champions. When the last twenty-round battle is fought on the Coast, it will mean that there will be left only one place in the United States where that length fight can be pulled off—New Orleans.

This will mean that there will be vastly more "championship battles" of ten rounds length pulled off than ever before. In a ten round fight, the best title-holder that ever lived, stands more show of losing his title than in a longer affray. Ten round fights very seldom end via the sleep route, and everyone knows how lightly decisions are hurled about after a battle, in which neither side wins decisively.

It doesn't take a professor in applied mathematics nor a man with Sherlock Holmes sense in the science of deduction to figure that under such condition, the woods, prairies and cities will be full of champs, near-champs and cheese-champs, claiming all the titles in this world and the next. It fight managers remain unchanged, and at present writing there seems absolutely no hope for the better along this line, they will lay claim to a title even if only one fight expert out of a dozen says after a scrap that would have received a decision had a decision been made.

We hesitate to make any suggestions regarding possible ways in which to settle the terrific, baseball war that has left so many magnates hoarse and throaty, for fear of having the Noble Peace prize pinned on us. However, should we stop hesitating and suggest, we say that if the National League really ousted Murphy, the American League Big Bill Devery and the Federals Gilmore it ought to be even up and time to shake hands all around.

The secret is out. Harvard's success, despite the loss of Brickley was explained by a Crimson grad the other day. Brickley's appendix kept in a bottle, was surreptitiously carried to New Haven by two superstitious undergrads who had access to where it was kept. Those two times that Yale threatened to score the bottle was unwrapped and held on high. Believe it or not, that's the way it was told to us.

Lehigh produced the best drop-kicker of the season in Cahall, who booted the leather over 10 times in seven games.

CONNERSVILLE IS WINNER

Defeats Milroy in Hard Fought Game 32 to 26.

Connerville defeated Milroy last night in a hard fought game 32 to 26. Milroy had the advantage of playing on its home floor, but was weakened by the absence of Crane, their star guard. Crane was out of the game with an injured back. The first half the score was comparatively even with neither team having the advantage. In the final period Connerville took a brace and toward the close of the game two field goals in rapid succession gave them a lead that Milroy could not overcome.

LOCALS LOSE BY FOUR POINTS

Shelbyville High School Takes Basketball Game Here Friday Night by Score 25 to 21.

MARKLEY MAKES 23 POINTS

Rushville Lodges Protest Against Him Before Game Because he is Ineligible.

The Rushville High school basketball lost to Shelbyville on the Graham school floor by the narrow margin of four points. The final score was 25 to 21, but it was anybody's game until the last whistle blew because toward the end both teams were making baskets with remarkable regularity.

The game had more class to it than any the Rushville team has played this year. It was extremely rough, but Rushville proved that it has the kind of stuff that wins games. There wasn't a streak of yellow any place and every man was in the game from the first flash of the ball until Referee Virgil Binford blew the final whistle.

Take Robert Markley, forward, off the Shelbyville team and there would not be much of a team. A protest was lodged against him before the beginning of the game because the school authorities here allege that this is his fifth season playing on the Shelbyville basketball team and that he is, therefore, ineligible under the high school rules. He also played independent football this last season.

If the contention of the high school here is correct, the game can still be protested. Markley was the life of the team! He made twenty-three of the twenty-five points scored by the visitors. In other words, he scored every point Shelbyville made with the exception of one measly field goal thrown by George Harding, center.

The first half ended eleven to thirteen in favor of Shelbyville. Rushville looked to be growing stronger as the game wore on and the prospects for a Rushville victory looked very good. There were a lot of plays that would do credit to a college team in the second half. The flashes of brilliancy came from both sides.

Rushville never drew off into the lead in the second half, but every time Shelbyville forged head Rushville invariably tied it up, with the exception of the last two minutes of play when the visitors obtained a lead that could not be headed.

Towards the end of the second half Bryce Stoops, forward, and Russell Tittsworth, forward, pulled off a play that brought the Rushville rooters to their feet cheering. Tittsworth received the ball at about the center of the floor and, although as closely guarded as he possibly could be without a foul being called, he shot the ball underhanded to Stoops, who dodged a Shelbyville man and threw the goal handily. The play was made in shorter time than it takes to describe it.

Markley, the Shelbyville forward, scarcely ever, failed to make a foul goal. When Rushville made a foul—and there were thirteen called on the locals—it was almost as good as a point for the visitors. On the other hand, Martin, the Rushville center, was not quite so sure on the foul baskets.

Martin lost two points for his team. Twice in jumping toward the basket to prevent a field goal by the visitors, he struck the basket with his arm and this, the rules provide, causes a point to be marked up for the opposing team. Twice Martin did this even after a goal had been made.

The gymnasium was crowded with people. It was generally agreed that the game was the best seen here in years and the interest was the keenest. The line-up:

Rushville	Shelbyville
	Position.
Tittsworth	Markley
Stoops	Forward.
Martin	Forward.
Breeheisen	Center.
Hutchinson	Guard.
	Guard.

Summary: field goals (Shelbyville), Markley, 5; Harding; (Rushville), Tittsworth, 2; Stoops, 3; foul goals (Shelbyville), Markley, 11; (Rushville), Stoops, 4; Martin, 11. Time of halves, twenty minutes. Referee, Virgil Binford.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO HEAR WATSON

Invited to Address Connerville Business Men at January Meeting —Has Personal Interest.

TO SECURE IMPERSONATOR

That James E. Watson, high up among the orators of the United States, will be invited to address the Commercial Club at a meeting some time in January was tentatively decided upon this afternoon, at a meeting of the club, says the Connerville News. Also it was expected that some impersonator would be asked to give a part of the entertainment of the evening.

Some weeks ago there was talk of bringing Henry Watterson to Connerville. The name of George Ade was suggested, too. However, these celebrities are farther away than Mr. Watson, and have not the personal interest in the city which he feels for it. They, therefore, are harder to engage. The club meeting had not ended at mid-afternoon, and it was intended, before it adjourned, to work out some further particulars of the January affair.

Notice of Election.

There will be an election held by the share holders of the Rushville National bank at their banking house at Rushville, Indiana on Tuesday, January 12th, 1915 between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing directors for said bank to serve the ensuing year.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

GERMAN OFFICERS ON THE FIRING LINE

DEPENDENT ON UNITED STATES

Belgium Must Still Appeal to This County For Food Because of Attitude of Belligerents.

COMMISSION CHAIRMAN BACK

Reports Distribution of Foodstuffs Sent in Care of American Body is Well Under Way.

London, Dec. 5.—Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium has returned to London after a week in Belgium and reported that the distribution of foodstuffs sent in care of the American commission is well under way, but that the condition of famine still is desperate and that on account of the attitude of the belligerents the Belgians must still appeal to the people of the United States for relief.

"It is difficult to state the position of the civil population of Belgium without appearing hysterical," said Mr. Hoover in his statement. "The Germans state that they have not the slightest objection to importing of foodstuffs into Belgium. The allies, on the other hand, contend that a free port for the importation of foodstuffs into Belgium would practically amount to an entrepot for food supplies for the Germans.

"We are meeting with no obstruction from the military authorities. Not one loaf of bread or one spoonful of salt that we have introduced has been taken by the military. There are considerable quantities of vegetables available in some districts, and in some there is still a supply of cereals for two or three weeks, but in others there has been no bread available for over a fortnight. Every soul will be dependent upon us for bread within thirty days.

"So far our efforts have necessarily been devoted to provisioning the larger centers. The clock has absolutely stopped in Belgium. An industrial country which was dependent on the overseas is now walled up with 70 per cent. of the people idle. There are no telegraphs, telephones, railways or postoffices except for military purposes. Transportation by rail is possible in only a few directions. The canal system is blocked by the destruction of bridges.

"There are no courts and the prisons have been emptied. The gendarmerie are themselves both policemen and judges. The people are most law-abiding. The central and provincial governments have disappeared. The city and communal governments, however, still exist and through them the distribution of food is being arranged.

"The detail of the method is that after investigation by the communal authorities food tickets are issued indicating the number and amount of rations to which the holder is entitled, and twice daily this ticket is presented by the holder to the food canteens for its quota and is punched. The rations consist of bread, soup containing potatoes, together with a little coffee and salt.

"Those who can afford, are compelled to pay the communal authorities at the rate of 4c a day ration. The destitutes are given tickets gratis. The communal authorities contribute to the relief committee 1 cent a day per capita on the total tickets issued in their commune.

"These funds ultimately become available to us for the purchase of food. Taking it all together, about one-half of the food which we send to Belgium is paid for, so when the American people contribute two ship loads of food they enable us to buy one more cargo.

"In Brussels at present there are fourteen communal kitchens and 137 canteens for adults and there are sixteen kitchens and thirty-four canteens for children under 3 years old.

"In order to guarantee that children are properly fed, parents are compelled to produce all children to communal doctors who are in charge of the canteens. Five different kinds of tickets are issued. The tickets for the first six months of a child's life are practically for milk alone. Various grades of tickets gradually evolve into the introduction of more solid foods until children 3 years old or more fall on the general canteen. In order to provide milk the communes have taken over the dairies.

"The amount and character of the destitution perhaps may be appreciated from the present position in Brussels. Of the population of about 650,000 remaining in the city an average of 218,000 were on the adult canteens and 31,000 babies were on the baby canteens last week, or more than one-third of the total population. Probably no more pitiable sight was ever presented than the line of mothers with children in arm, waiting their turn at these canteens.

"In the industrial districts, where the people naturally would have smaller stores on hand than in the capital, a much larger population is now on the communal canteens in some instances over 60 per cent. of the whole number.

"Brussels consumed 3,000 sacks of flour a day. There were just 921 sacks of flour in the city when our first shipment of foodstuffs arrived. When I left Brussels yesterday morning there were 15,000 sacks in the city, or about five days' supply."

BREWERS MAY REFORM SALOON

Step Towards Making Them Like English Coffee Houses May Result According to Plans

KEEPERS WOULD LIKELY BUCK

Would be Along Line of Remarks Contained in Advertisements "Talks on Temperance"

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—Wanted: A few reformers, church workers and the like to advocate the "Reformed Saloon," the "Barless, Treatless Drinking Parlors"—or what ever name you may prefer.

This ad. has not yet appeared in the classified columns of the newspapers, nor is it likely to appear, but there are well-rounded rumors that the Indiana Brewers, or at least a good portion of them, would welcome intervention just now by the above mentioned.

One brewer is known to have remarked to the effect that Indiana would do well to abolish bars, lower licenses and transform saloons and barrel houses into drinking parlors without screens, and where milk, tea and coffee would be served to ladies and gentlemen by waiters (not bartenders).

This idea is directly in line with the remarks of the national president of the brewers at the recent national convention. It is also in line with the "Temperance Talks" that the Brewers are printing in newspapers as paid advertisements.

One well-informed man here—and he isn't connected with the Anti-Saloon league nor the Prohibition party either—said the Brewers believed they saw ahead of them various difficulties if they did not take the saloon out of the "licensed nuisance" class and place it in a class out with the English coffee house or the temperance German institution.

The new plan, it is understood, would not allow treating. The brewers, or some of them, have decided the bar, treating and screens are three cardinal sins of the liquor business. They would ask that everybody be made to pay for his own refreshments.

The saloon keepers would buck the brewers on this, it is believed, for they have their money invested in their present fixtures and licenses and would frown on a change that would lose them money at the start. The low license would also cause opposition from the present license holders. Licenses in cities where the number is limited are considered assets of considerable value, for competition is limited, whereas it is possible that competition would be much more keen were the saloon removed from the tolerated, license nuisance class.

Mail Your Xmas Gifts Early; List of Prohibitions Prepared

The official list of "don'ts" for the postoffice has been issued by the officials.

In handling Christmas business, the women are the chief offenders at the postoffice windows. According to the employees of the office they frequently wait until after the amount is stated, then fumble through purses, stopping to remove gloves and causing other delays.

The "don't" follow:

- Do it early.
- Don't fail to wrap parcel securely.
- Don't use paper that tears easily.
- Don't use poor twine.
- Don't attempt to mail umbrellas, canes, etc., unless a stick is tied along the side to prevent breakage.
- Don't forget that hat boxes must be crated.
- Don't write with pencil. Use ink.
- Don't forget the return address.
- Don't write return address where the address should be located.
- Don't use tags if it can be avoided.
- Don't enclose any writing in parcel except card with name, or

"Merry Christmas."

Don't mix candy, cake, oranges and apples in the same parcel.

Don't forget that parcels without correct address are usually delayed. Don't forget that glass or china should be packed in excelsior and in a wooden box.

Don't wait until the last few days and then have your parcel arrive after Christmas is over.

Don't go away from home unless you leave instructions to your carrier regarding the delivery of your mail.

Don't mail tinsel post cards unless enclosed in a sealed envelope with a two-cent stamp on outside.

Don't address parcels to children unless the street number or address is given.

Don't expect post office clerks to wrap your parcels or address them.

Don't present your parcels until they are ready for mailing.

Don't forget to have your money, ready, so that patrons following you may not be delayed.

PROGRESS THAT IS BEING MADE

Indiana Red Cross Seals Commission Hears of Campaign Carried on Many Places.

METHODS WHICH ARE USED

"Ten Seals Per Capita" is the Slogan That State Organization is Working on.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—Interesting reports are being received daily at the headquarters of the Indiana Red Cross Seals Commission, 203 Public Savings Building, this city, concerning the progress that is being made in many Indiana counties, in the matter of pushing the sale of Christmas Seals issued under the auspices of the American Red Cross. Fort Wayne, according to reports filed on December 1st, leads the state, not only on a per capita basis but also on total sales. In the Allen county capitol, a monster thermometer, placed right in the heart of the business district, announces to the public that the Red Cross Seal spirit is constantly "getting hotter."

In Indianapolis, Mrs. Santa Claus is selling Red Cross Seals in a department store. Logansport is planning to have a Red Cross Seal "Day" which will be featured by a monster parade. Evansville and Terre Haute are conducting more enthusiastic campaigns than ever before. In every county except five—Marion, Vigo, Allen, Vanderburgh and St. Joseph—the slogan "One Thousand Dollars" has been sounded. The five counties just mentioned undoubtedly will go far ahead of the thousand dollar mark.

A "suggestion bulletin" issued at state headquarters for distribution to city and county organizations in charge of the sale says in part: "Getting down to brass tacks, is that '10 seals per capita' slogan too 'strong'? The average family consists of four persons, we will say just for the sake of argument. Are there actually very many families in your district that could not be induced to spend forty cents during the month of December if they were convinced of the importance of our fight against tuberculosis? Should it be very difficult to point out in a convincing way the necessity for this movement of ours?"

The time is not yet when every individual in our commonwealth will cheerfully or otherwise, shoulder his share of the burden of doing this public service. But this drawback in a Red Cross Seal campaign is more than offset by the magnificent liberality of thousands of men and women, who annually spend many times their allotment in large purchases of seals."

WHAT ONE FAKE STORY CAUSED

Dispatch Sent From Kokomo That Steel and Wire Company Would Run Full Time

AND EMPLOY ABOUT 2,000 MEN

Results in City Having to Care for 430 Idle Men Who Came There in Search of Work

Certain folks who talk first and investigate afterward have been busy-ing themselves the last two days with an attempt to make it appear that the story appearing in the Tribune about Kokomo being congested with idle men lacked foundation in facts, says the Kokomo Tribune.

Those who read the story will recall that it was based upon information furnished by the township trustee. An effort is being made to create the impression that the trustee was "talking through his hat." Let's see whether he was or not.

Down at the city hall, in connection with police headquarters, there is a room in which persons who are without means to provide themselves with lodging are permitted to sleep. From November 1 to November 23, inclusive, there slept in that little room 430 men. Were the majority of them tramps? Not by a million miles. The majority of them were men who had come here hunting work.

About two weeks ago a report that a great industrial revival was on in Kokomo was sent to Indianapolis, Chicago and Cincinnati newspapers. Part of the story was to the effect that the Kokomo Steel & Wire company would start running full time on Monday, November 23, and would work a force of 2,000 men.

Let's see whether there was any connection between this story and the appearance here about that time of an unusual number of idle men. In 4 nights immediately preceding the date on which the steel mill was to resume, 140 men slept in the detention room at police headquarters. One night the stuffy little chamber was the resting place of forty-three men.

If any one doubts the correctness of these figures, let him go to police headquarters and ask to examine the record. Dozens of men declared they were strangers in Kokomo and that they had come here believing they could find employment. They were disappointed, of course, to find that there were already more men here than there were jobs.

The facts about the records at police headquarters were not tipped off to the Tribune by the township trustee. They were given to the Tribune by Mayor Stidger. Furthermore, they were given by him right in police headquarters and in the presence of the officer who had the records. The mayor expressed sympathy for the men who had been misled into coming here and said he thought something should be done to discourage a further influx. He gave it as his opinion that the big city newspapers that had carried the story should be notified that the situation had been misrepresented.

Just who was responsible for the report that the Kokomo Steel & Wire company would work a force of 2,000 men, has not been ascertained. No officer of the company is responsible for it. There never was a time when the company employed many more than half that number of men. It has never claimed that it employed more than about 1,200.

CHRISTMAS SNOWBALLS

Snowballs are prepared by winding little toys or favors in strips of cotton batting so that the balls may be perfectly round. They are then wrapped in white tissue paper, which is glued on.

Over the outside of the snowball a thin coating of mucilage is applied with frost powder sifted on. This makes the ball look as if it were really made of snow. There should be as many snowballs as there are guests at the party.

Two baskets—just ordinary market baskets may be used if the handles are wound with ribbon and tied with a big red bow at the top—are provided to hold the snowballs and are placed in two chairs at one end of the room. The snowballs are then dropped on the carpet in a line stretching from the baskets to the end of the room, an equal number in each line and an equal distance apart.

A child stands by each chair and at a given signal runs for the farthest snowballs, bringing them back and dropping them in the basket. All the snowballs are collected in this way, and the child who first fills his basket wins the game. No snowball must be broken. If one is torn it counts as a foul in the game.

The children may be divided for this game into two divisions, and the side which has the most successful players after all have had a chance to play counts as the winning side.

At the end of the game the snowballs are distributed and the children open them, discovering the treasures wrapped up inside.

War News Features

BY P. M. SARLE
 (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Nov. 14.—(By mail to New York)—Here's how the football fan saw the war.

In a letter from the front, a prominent north-country football player, now serving in the Royal Field Artillery, says: "The great match for the European Cup is still being played out, and I daresay there's a record gate, though you can not see the spectators from the field. That is one of the rules of the game when this match is on. In spite of all their 'swank' the Germans haven't scored a goal yet, and they are simply kicking at the ball any way in their blind rage at not being able to score.

"Our team is about as fit as you could have them, and they are all good men, though some of them are 'amateurs,' and the Germans are all 'pros' (professionals). The Germans forwards are a rotten pack. They have no dash worth speaking about and they come up the field as though they were going to the funeral of their nearest and dearest. When they are charged they nearly always fall away on their backs and their goal-keeping is about the rottenest thing you ever set eyes on.

"I wouldn't give a brass farthing for their chance of lifting the Cup, and if you have any 'brass' to spare you can put it on the France-British team who are scoring goals so fast that they haven't time to stop and count them. The Kaiser makes a rotten captain for any team, and its little wonder they are losing. Most of our chaps would like to tell him what they think of him and his team."

"Captain Stewart's wife and his father and mother are proud and happy that he has died for his country's honor and a scrap of paper."

This is the family tribute paid to the memory of Captain Bertrand Stewart, of Sir John French's staff recently killed in action. Captain Stewart has suffered imprisonment in Germany for alleged espionage at the time of the Morocco crisis, but was released when the King and Queen visited Berlin last year.

When he was on trial Captain Stewart closed his defense with defiant and prophetic words:

"If your distinguished country ever attacks mine I hope to be among those who take part in the fight. Even if my own regiment were not called out, I should endeavor to serve with another."

The spirit in which the British troops, carried out the long retreat from Mons is shown by a letter from Private Thomas Harman, of the Kings Royal Rifle Corps. "The officers knew that we were disappointed at having to retreat, for they and we knew that we were doing better than the Germans and were inflicting heavy losses on them. On the fifth day—we had three days fighting before we began to retreat—their colonel came round and spoke to us, saying: 'Stick to it, boys, stick to it. Tomorrow we shall go the other way and advance. Biff, biff.' The way he said 'Biff, biff,' delighted the men, and after that we shouted 'Biff, biff' every time we had to turn and drive back the Germans."

That there are humorous moments even in the most terrible phases of war, is indicated in a letter from a soldier in the Northumberland Fusiliers describing the fighting during the retreat from Mons. "I saw my mate blown out of a trench," he says "He had just before brought a pound of butter for us. I didn't know where that went. I had a loaf of bread strapped to my back all through the fighting, and very glad I was of the chance to eat it dry.

The curtain has been rung down on the British-German Friendship Society which was organized in 1911 by the late Lord Avebury and Sir Frank Lascelles, formerly British Ambassador in Berlin. At a general meeting of the members, it was resolved "that it is desirable that this society be wound up forthwith." Its funds are to be distributed for the relief of British subjects in Germany and distressed Germans in England.

13 ARE CAUGHT IN GRAND JURY NET

attack the constitutionality of this act which limits the number of employees of the state legislature.

The grounds for the attack, it is understood, will be that the constitution gives free range, and that the legislature acting openly by committee has the power to employ all aid necessary. The act in question has been a dead letter for many years, according to a statement by Prosecutor Baker today.

One report was that attorneys for O'Neill would ask for an early trial in order that his case might be made a test and tried before Judge Markey, who retires January 1. Judge Markey is a Democrat. His successor, Judge Collins, is a Republican. O'Neill's attorneys asked for a copy of the indictment in order that they may "petition for a speedy trial."

Bernard Korbly appeared today for Secretary of State Cook.

Public officials differed widely in their views. While some declared the legislature was due for a clean-up, others were as emphatic in saying that these cases would never come to trial.

The indicted men who are all Democrats and most of them identified with the Taggart element will probably come to trial before Judge-elect Collins, Republican, who, with a Republican prosecutor, takes office January 1.

Those who were released without bond today are: William P. O'Neill, lieutenant governor, Democrat; Sam N. Quillen, Wade H. Free, George W. Sands, George M. Raab, Paul C. Hill and Douglass Bolser.

The grand jury has been investigating the affairs of the legislature since October 8. It was fifteen minutes after eleven last night when a report was finally made, in which thirty-four true bills were returned against members of the house and senate and employees of both branches.

The purpose for which the grand jury was called did not bear fruit. None of the indictments was for juggling of the two salary bills which were alleged to have been made laws without having gone through the proper course of being passed by both the house and senate.

All of the indictments charge that the men named presented or signed false claims which were paid out of the legislative funds. In just one case is the man named in the indictment said to have received the money for which the alleged claims were presented.

It was the theory of the grand jury that more than the legal number of doorkeepers, clerks and stenographers were employed, and that the extra ones were not employees of the state. Any claims presented for them were false, it is alleged.

As soon as the grand jury had reported, Judge Markey of Criminal Court discharged that body. All of the accused will be allowed their liberty under their own recognizances.

The indictments against Lieutenant Governor O'Neill, Homer L. Cook and all the others, except George C. Stelhorn, allege that one (the name of the accused), "did then and there unlawfully and falsely and knowingly with the intent to cheat and defraud the state of Indiana make out and present for payment to the auditor of state of said state of Indiana a certain false and fraudulent certificate, which certificate he, the said (the name of the accused) then and there well knew was false and fraudulent of the tenor following."

The alleged claim then is set forth. The indictment then proceeds to say by whom the claim was signed and that the person, for whom it was made out, was not an employee of the House or Senate.

There were eleven indictments in which Cook is accused, and five in which O'Neill is accused. George C. Stelhorn is alleged to have received $25 more than really was due him as a gift for extra work he performed.

Others named in the indictments besides those released this morning were: Homer L. Cook, Indianapolis, speaker of the house of representatives in the 1913 session of the legislature; Senator Levi P. Harlan, Indianapolis, chairman of the "plunder committee" of the senate; John J. Keegan, Indianapolis, member of the house of representatives in 1913 and chairman of the "plunder committee" of the house; John D. Shea, Indianapolis, chief doorkeeper of the senate in the 1913 session and now custodian of the state house; George C. Stelhorn, Indianapolis, engraving clerk in the house of representatives in 1913, and Mason J. Niblack, Vincennes, parliamentarian in the house in the 1913 session, a representative-elect and candidate for speaker of the house in the 1913 session.

Relative to lobbying in the legislature, the report says in part:

"The evidence in this investigation discloses a situation that calls aloud for penal legislation upon the subject of what is called 'lobbying' about the legislature. It shows that men of great political influence on account of their position in some instances, and their relation to party organization, do not hesitate to demand and receive large sums of money, running into thousands of dollars, to influence and control the legislation of the state. Men of different political parties under so-called employment from the same employer demand and receive large sums of money for their effort to control or influence legislation upon public bills; that is to say, bills that affect the public either of the whole state or of some considerable portion thereof. Among the men so demanding and receiving large sums of money at the last Legislature was the chairman of the Democratic state central committee, Bernard Korbly; the present mayor of the city, Joseph E. Bell, who is well known to be in close relation with the political organizations of county and state, and Mr. Rucklehaus, who was at the time a member of the Republican state central committee and a man of no small political influence.

"The evidence shows that the Manufacturers' Association, through Fred C. Gardner, treasurer of the E. C. Atkins & Co. saw manufacturers, employed the gentlemen above named at an aggregate of $6,000.

Concerning the investigation of the bill juggling, the report says in part:

"On account of the manner in which business was done in the House as above indicated, it has made the investigation of the grand jury very tedious and difficult to ascertain whether there was corruption in showing a passage of these bills or whether it was only by mistake. The evidence shows that money was paid to procure at least Bill 423 to be placed in the Acts of a bill passed by the Legislature.

"We, the grand jury, have very carefully investigated every line of inquiry suggesting itself to ascertain whether money was paid to any member, officer or employee in the Legislature, either directly or through the medium of any individual. If money was paid to a member, officer or employee, we have not been able to obtain definite evidence as to whom the individual was, although the evidence strongly tends to show that it was a clerk or assistant of the principal clerk.

"We are advised that there is no statute under which any one could be prosecuted, merely for signing or causing bills to be signed when not passed.

"There is evidence to show that the speaker, Homer L. Cook, and the minute clerk, Mason J. Niblack, failed to keep a record of action on all bills that came to the speaker for signature, and if a check had been kept on all bills that passed, it would have been impossible for Bills 499 and 423 to have gotten through by mistake."

For the past few days, while the report of the jury has been momentarily expected, there has been evident about the statehouse a feeling of uneasiness concerning the result. No one, not even the Governor, appeared to know what to expect. There were frequent whispered conferences in which Prosecutor Baker, himself apparently ill at ease, often figured. The assistant attorney general, who represented the Governor before the grand jury during the hearing of witnesses, frankly admitted he could not predict anything.

This grand jury exercised its right and forbade the prosecutor and the assistant attorney general entrance to grand jury room while it was summing up the evidence. This was unusual, though the grand jury's right to do so was unquestioned.

Another thing that became evident as the hearing went forward was that the probe had taken on a much wider field than was originally intended in the letter of Governor Ralston to Prosecutor Baker. The Governor asked that the "consummate scoundrels" who engineered bills No. 423 and No. 499 through the legislature and obtained his signatures though they never had been passed, be apprehended and sent to prison. The grand jury investigated these bills thoroughly, but apparently, it went much farther, taking in the general conduct of the legislature and of its officers.

The period of uneasiness has dated from October 23, when the jury had been ordered by Judge Markey to report. The jury did not report. This was prior to the election. When the jury failed to follow the court's instructions, it caused a great deal of speculation. It was after this date that the scope of the investigation broadened. The jury on several occasions seemed to exhibit unusual independence both of the court and of the prosecutor.

Judge Markey at the time he ordered the jury to report Oct. 23 said that after the report he would instruct the jury as to criminal libel.

No investigation of recent years has so reached throughout the length and breadth of the state as has this one. The witnesses have attained the hundreds including many men of prominence.

Whereas Lake County has been most vitally concerned, and Lake county men have predominated as witnesses, yet employees of the legislature and others from a score of cities have been hailed summarily before the body, threatened with terms in jail if they did not appear and hunted to the borders of the state by sheriff's deputies. The list of witnesses is an imposing one.
